

01 | Manufacture of injection moulded parts

With state-of-the-art machinery and a high degree of automation, we not only guarantee the best product quality, but also extremely resource-efficient manufacturing.

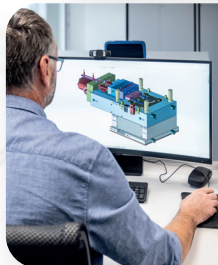

02 | Precision parts manufacturing

With 40 years of experience in manufacturing high-precision plastic parts for exceptional requirements, we do not shy away from special challenges. We are always looking for new challenges.

03 | Small-batch production

Mass production usually requires large quantities – often too great a risk for start-ups or market tests. We offer flexible solutions to implement your product quickly and in line with market requirements, even in small quantities.

04 | Development

First, your desired product is analysed in terms of requirements, material selection, stability, service life and resistance to external influences. This is followed by the design process, right through to rapid prototyping.

05 | Tool design

The injection moulding tools required for production are designed in-house. This also includes extensive simulations to rule out potential problems in advance.

06 | Sourcing

We also provide our customers with our own purchasing department, which has experience in international sourcing. Your advantage is access to a purchasing network for additional parts that we need to complete the manufacture of your product.

COLOP SINGLE SOURCE

FROM THE IDEA TO THE FINAL PLASTIC PRODUCT

What makes COLOP the perfect service provider in the field of plastic parts manufacturing?

It is not only the production of the perfect plastic part, but also the wide range of in-house services we can offer.

Why should you choose us as your trusted partner for your product?

Because we take all the effort and worry off your hands. You focus on your core business while we deliver a finished product. Our efficiency and expertise are also available for small series, which can only benefit you. As a regional partner with similar values and the highest level of reliability, you will save yourself a lot of time and trouble.

07 | Automation

Automation is an important part of production. If required, we can offer you special solutions for the efficient manufacture and assembly of your products.

08 | Contract assembly

Our strength lies in offering a complete service, from planning to packaging your product. This naturally also includes assembling your product or adding further components to it.

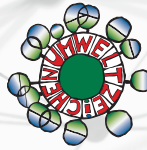

09 | Packaging

The right packaging is more than just protection. It conveys value, raises expectations and influences the customer's first impression. Depending on the product, we take care of the layout, sampling and design.

10 | Logistics

Our company specialises in the international market. Smooth shipping requires comprehensive knowledge – from customs duties and import documents to hazardous goods regulations. We provide reliable support throughout your logistics process.
